Beneficiary Designation (For IRA, Roth IRA & SEP IRA Accounts)

What to do to update your beneficiary:

Use this form to add or change the beneficiary designation on your IRA, Roth IRA, & SEP IRA accounts. You can also change beneficiaries online at prudentialfunds.com/myaccess.

About Your Beneficiary Designation

When you submit this form, it will replace any prior beneficiary designations on the accounts listed on this form. Therefore it is important that you list all the primary and secondary beneficiaries you want to designate, even if you are only updating information about one beneficiary. Those you designate as your primary beneficiaries will be the first to inherit your mutual fund assets upon your death. Secondary beneficiaries will receive the balance of your mutual fund assets only after the primary beneficiary.

If you do not designate a beneficiary, your IRA will be distributed to your surviving spouse or your estate. We encourage you to consult an advisor who understands both tax-law and related estate-planning implications of this form.

2. Choose your Beneficiaries

Tell us who should receive your account balance after your death. For each beneficiary, you list by name, check a beneficiary type (primary or secondary) and provide all information. If you have more than four beneficiary designations please attatch a separate sheet listing additonal beneficiaries, the sheet must be signed and dated.

If the Per Stirpes designation is checked and the named beneficiary does not survive the account owner, but leaves surviving descendants, then any share otherwise payable to such beneficiary shall instead be paid to such beneficiary's surviving descendants, by right of representation.

Please note, the primary and secondary beneficiary totals must each equal 100%.

3. Spousal Consent

Special laws apply to the designation of a beneficiary by a married person residing in a "community property" state. Community property is recognized in AZ, CA, ID, LA, NV, NM, TX, WA, WI, Guam and Puerto Rico. If you are married and reside in a community property state and have not designated your spouse as your sole primary beneficiary, your spouse must sign this section. Your spouse's signature represents consent to the beneficiary designation.

For Federal tax purposes, the term "spouse" includes any married individuals (same sex or otherwise), if the individuals are lawfully married under state law. Federal law does not recognize domestic partnerships or civil unions that are not designed as "married"under state law.

There are numerous situations that may affect your beneficiary designation. We suggest you consult an advisor who understands both tax-law and related estate-planning implications of this form. Neither Prudential Mutual Fund Services LLC, nor Prudential

Investments, or its affiliates will be liable for any consequences resulting from failure to provide proper spousal consent
